Dear Student,

This time we are planning to start from the very first day some technology oriented extra classes beyond your syllabus. This will help you to strengthen your resume and to make you more confident. There is limited time period for a particular technology. If you will come late definitely you will miss at least one technology and you will lag behind. So report to the department on the very first day and do not miss this opportunity.

As you know the date of registration for session 2017-18, Odd Semester is 17/7/2017 and the commencement of classes is from 18/7/2017, you are advised to adhere to the above dates. This is for your kind information that, the attendance criteria has been fixed for CT1 examination is 70%. This is going to be strictly followed. So you have to maintain the attendance criteria at any cost, otherwise you will be in great trouble. Therefore you have to report to college on the said dates without any delay to avoid any attendance issue.
